PROFILE

David is a full-time professional voice actor and audio engineer who trained in acting and audio back in the early noughties before retraining and having a 15-year corporate career as an organisational psychologist, primarily working as a coach and trainer (including e-learning).

David works primarily in audiobooks—with an average Audible performance rating of above 4.5—followed by commercial and corporate narration, along with commercials and the occasional video game.

David reviews microphones and plugins - and occasionally interviews people - on YouTube, where he's best known for his Recording Audiobooks with Reaper training course.

David is a qualified coach, has glowing reviews for his custom FX chains, and is an irregular demo producer when it's a good fit.
